A: If you can't crack it, there's an easier way: enter the license key to the phone directly into the service center's laptop. You don't even need to know any Chinese. Just press the "Check" button and you'll see everything you need to enter the license key. This method is only useful if your phone is genuine. If it's not then you can't do that. The service center should also be able to help you download the C&Cn, as long as you can provide the IMEI. The IMEI is the unique identifier for the phone. It should be displayed on the sticker on the back of your phone. Residents who live near an Edmonton-area high school have mixed feelings after some of the school's bus drivers were fired over what is being described as a random drug test. Two drivers were dismissed from the RCMP detachment on Sept. 16 after a bus driver randomly tested positive for drugs. The next day, a driver for the Edmonton Public School System was fired for making racist remarks. The two firings were the first disciplinary action taken against drivers in the detachment since it was renamed in May. "The staff have my full support, but I feel a lot of people on the grounds here are scared to speak out," said Johnny Nelson, who lives near Marlborough High School, where one of the drivers was dismissed. "A lot of people are worried, their kids go to school here and it's like a no-fly zone. It's a bit of a concern. "It's just a little bit of a shock because it's a very small school, like a lot of people know each other. So it was really shocking that it happened." The school district said in a statement it supports the action taken by the detachment. "The Edmonton Public School District will always ensure that its employees are treated fairly and respectfully, and will be investigating the circumstances that resulted in the termination," it said. Earlier this year, a group of parents at the school were invited to a school board meeting to voice concerns about the administration. Sue Batt, who has two children attending Marlborough, said the issue was on the parents' minds even before the firings. "The administration wasn't listening to parents, they were moving away from a different method of learning for kids, I believe," she said. Batt said the parents weren
