9881.1.hd.avi.html - It takes a certain kind of courage to launch a diktat from an open sky. And the credit for it goes not to the administrative organs, but to the humans themselves who through their protests, passive resistance, and civil disobedience, have shown their strength of character. From the freedom ride to the lunch counter sit-ins, we trace the civil rights struggle from the time it started till it ended. A powerful film exploring the various stages in the Negro struggle, looking at the place of religion, of class, of international forces and of the people in the struggle.
